

Remsoft secures strategic investment from Banneker Partners and completes acquisition of Lim Geomatics

On March 11, 2025, Remsoft, a leader in Forest Intelligence solutions, announced a strategic investment from Banneker Partners, a private equity firm specializing in enterprise software. This investment strengthens Remsoft's ability to scale, accelerate innovation, and deliver high-value solutions that help forestry organizations improve profitability and enhance sustainability.

As the first step in its strategy, Remsoft has acquired Lim Geomatics, a forestry software innovator specializing in geospatial and operational analytics. The partnership expands the Remsoft platform with geospatial intelligence, LiDAR, and forest machine telematics capabilities that deepen insights into forest operations.
