FATF	March 19, 2021	Public consultation on FATF draft guidance on a risk-based approach to virtual assets and virtual asset service providers	Comments by April 20, 2021

		The Financial Action Task Force (FATF) is updating its guidance on the risk-based approach to virtual assets (VAs) and virtual asset service providers (VASPs). The FATF originally published this guidance in June 2019 when the FATF finalized changes to its standards to clearly place anti-money laundering and counter terrorist financing (AML/CTF) obligations on VAs and VASPs. In July 2020, the FATF committed to update this guidance as set out in its 12-month review report and report to G20 on so-called stablecoins. The changes to the FATF's pre-existing guidance aim to maintain a level playing field for VASPs, based on the financial services they provide in line with existing standards applicable to financial institutions and other AML/CTF-obliged entities, as well as minimizing the opportunity for regulatory arbitrage between sectors and countries. The FATF is consulting private sector stakeholders before finalizing the revisions to the guidance. They welcome views on the

		areas of focus, in addition to specific proposals on the proposed revisions to the text of the guidance. They primarily seek views from representatives from the VA community, including academics and policy bodies, VASPs, technology developers and providers (particularly in relation to the travel rule), other regulated entities (such as banks), but also welcome views from authorities. Separate to this process, the FATF is also considering the implementation of the revised FATF Standards on VAs and VASPs. Relevant issues identified in this public consultation may be considered through that review. The FATF will consider the report of this review in June 2021. Responses were provided to FATF.Publicconsultation@fatf-gafi.org with subject-line “Comments of [author] on the draft revised VASP Guidance”, prior to the deadline of April 20, 2021 (18:00 UTC).

OSFI will closely monitor conditions and remains ready to take any further action, including unwinding temporary measures, as required. For specific guidance, please see the letter issued to federally regulated deposit-taking institutions (DTIs) subject to market risk capital requirements.

FATF	March 17, 2021	Mitigating the unintended consequences of the FATF Standards In February 2021, the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) launched a new project to study and mitigate the unintended consequences resulting from the incorrect implementation of the FATF Standards. The project will focus on four main areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• De-risking, or the loss or limitation of access to financial services. This practice has affected non-profit organisations (NPOs), money value transfer service providers, and correspondent banking relationships, in particular;• Financial exclusion a phenomenon whereby individuals are excluded from the formal financial system and denied access to basic financial services;

OSFI	March 15, 2021	Revised OSFI Capital Ruling for Limited Recourse Capital Notes OSFI has published an update to its July 18, 2020 capital ruling on the Limited Recourse Capital Notes (LRCNs). The revised ruling now addresses LRCN issuances from institutions of all sizes and across different industry sectors. The revisions include a number of clarifications to the ruling's conditions and limitations, which are part of OSFI's prudent approach to assessing the quality and quantity of financial instruments used as regulatory capital. This is consistent with our mandate to protect the rights and interests of depositors, policyholders and financial institution creditors, while also allowing financial institutions to compete effectively and take reasonable risks. The ruling continues to conclude that federally regulated financial institutions may recognize the LRCNs as regulatory capital subject to the capital

Bank of Canada	March 12, 2021	Bank of Canada announces changes to securities repo operations In line with its objectives to support core-funding markets and to foster the well-functioning of the Government of Canada securities market, the Bank of Canada is announcing changes to securities repo operations (SROs). The maximum total bidding amount across all securities in the SRO will increase to $2,000 million for each eligible participant effective Monday, March 15, 2021. The maximum bid rate will remain at 15bps. The bank may further adjust the size of the SROs in line with its intention at the start of the program in July 2020 to improve the availability of its holdings of Government of Canada securities. The terms and conditions of the SRO provide operational details. The SROs provide a temporary source of Government of Canada nominal bonds and treasury bills to primary dealers and the

FATF	March 11, 2021	Trade-based money laundering: Risk indicators The FATF/Egmont report on trade-based money laundering risk indicators will help the public and private sector identify suspicious activity in international trade. In December 2020, the FATF and Egmont Group of FIUs published a report on trade-based money laundering – trends and developments. The report provided detailed insight into emerging risks. It also outlined a number of best practices to help authorities mitigate this money laundering threat The trade-based money laundering: risk indicators supplement this report and will help public and private sector identify possible trade-based money laundering.

		Public consultation: Draft application paper on macro-prudential supervision The IAIS has developed a draft "Application Paper on Macroprudential Supervision" (Paper). This Paper aims to help with practical application of the supervisory material related to macro-prudential supervision in Insurance Core Principle (ICP) 24. As part of the holistic framework for the assessment and mitigation of systemic risk in the insurance sector (Holistic Framework), the IAIS revised ICP 24 to more explicitly address, among other topics, the build-up and transmission of systemic risk at the individual insurer and sector-wide level. The Holistic Framework and ICP 24 were adopted by the annual general meeting in November 2019. Under IAIS procedures, an application paper can provide additional material related to ICPs or ComFrame that help with practical application, but does not establish new standards. Application papers can provide examples of good

Feedback is invited by Friday, May 7, 2021. Feedback received by this deadline will enable the IAIS to further develop the Paper for finalization. After this deadline, the consultation tool will be closed and it will no longer be possible to submit any further comments. In addition, a public background session will be held via webinar on Tuesday, March 23, 2021 to present the Paper and answer any questions from stakeholders.
FATF	March 4, 2021	Guidance on risk-based supervision FATF encourages countries to move beyond a tick-box approach in monitoring the private sector's efforts to curb money laundering and terrorist financing. FATF guidance on risk-based supervision helps supervisors address the full spectrum of risks and focus resources where the

		risks are highest. A risk-based approach is less burdensome on lower risk sectors or activities, which is critical for maintaining or increasing financial inclusion. Transitioning from rules-based supervision to risk-based supervision takes time and can be challenging. It requires a change in supervisory culture. Supervisors need to work across government and with the private sector to develop an in-depth understanding of the risks that their regulated entities face. This is important because every business operates differently and faces different risks. Supervisors need to have appropriate powers, skills and resources as well as political and organisational support. They need to continuously update their understanding of risk and adjust and improve their supervisory approach. The guidance is composed of three parts: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Part 1 – The high-level guidance on risk-based
