Mark Christensen is a leading commercial real estate lawyer, trusted by institutional developers, lenders, borrowers, REITs and investors to deliver results for their most complex transactions. Mark's practice spans complex industrial, office and retail transactions and advice, assisting clients with acquisitions, dispositions, project development, leasing, and sophisticated financing arrangements, where his strategic insight and over two decades of experience consistently creates value for clients.

Mark is a deal maker, providing practical, strategic and actionable counsel, whether helping developers with all aspects of land assembly, financing and leasing, or helping clients with construction and acquisition loans.

Mark applies his niche expertise when representing owners and operators of private senior living facilities and government-funded senior living facilities.

He routinely guides clients through corporate and ownership matters, including partnership agreements, joint ventures and co-ownership agreements. Mark also represents top financial institutions in significant financial lending transactions.

Mark has acted on many high-profile deals, and his accomplished track records has earned him industry-wide recognition, including in Chambers Canada rankings.
