Zoë provides strategic counsel and regulatory guidance to utilities and companies operating in the energy sector. Her practice focuses on supporting clients through rate applications, regulatory compliance, and policy developments in the energy sector.

Zoë represents clients in proceedings before Ontario Energy Board and other provincial and federal tribunals, as well as before the courts and in private mediation and arbitration.

Having spent five years as regulatory counsel at a large electricity utility, Zoë understands the client perspective when working with external counsel and strives to deliver practical and cost-effective services.

Experience

- Advising an electricity utility in the preparation and successful defence of a $5 billion rate application.
